FOR GOVERNOR, HON. CHARLES A. WICKLIFFE

The Thirteenth Kentucky regiment has held a political meeting, and resolved all traitors who will not vote men and money to upport the war. That is hard on Mr. Hard iag. He refused to vote for the bill to raise money, and voted straight out against the bill to raise men. Still, by some strange mistake, they indorse Harding as the most proper man extant to go to Corgress.

Really, it is not easy to understand Mr Harding and his friends. He refused to vote men or money, and all such his friends condemn as traitors, and then face about and in dorse him and all he has done. How are the people of this State to understand these politicians and political warriors? Was Mr. Harding's voting or not voting a mere ruse? It seems so from his present course; and is this a time for a mere political ruse? It is certainly time for men to go to Congress who are earnest, not first one thing and then anoth We approved what Harding did in the main, and expected he would stick to it; but here come he and his friends and call us and those who, like us, sustained Mr. Harding, traitors! Out upon juggling politicians. We shall never approve the conduct of Harding & us for doing it. These officers and soldiers are opposed to Abolitionism, they say emphatically, and Mr. Harding is opposed to it, too, we presume; but what is he going to do about it? If he will give all the men and money unconditionally, and let the Abolitionists wrap up their policy in the war, so as to carry their party schemes along with the war, as they are doing now, what more do Abolitionists want? These Abolitionists show us that they have so conpected their party policy with the war that the war necessarily supports their schemes, and those who support the war unconditionally must support Abolitionism. That is the game the Abolitionists are playing. Now, what is Mr. Harding going to do to disconnect the war from this Abolition policy? If nothing, he is as good an Abolitionist as Summer would want, or he is the unconscious tool of that faction.

But the supplies to the army. They are woted already to 1864; but not by Mr. Hard- they do, especially at a long range, we would ing. The army would now be cut of supplies if all had voted as he did. But these supplies are voted now. Plenty to put down the rebellion, if that were the object; but not enough to put it down and put Abelition up,

We are not for unconditional war, nor an Mr. Harding's school, when they vote aye, to is our indirnation and surprise to find the inlet the world know that they mean it; and when they don't vote at all, to let us know if Cincinnati papers to the serious injury of our they are really in favor of the bill they refuse interests! It is time that this outrageous course to vote for; and we want security that if we should cease. Any man not a natural fool approve their course we shall not be de- knows that the publication of the movements nounced as traitors by their friends and ad-

The rebellion is ball enough, God and man knows. Its demerits and crimes can't be exargerated. We have done all we could to put it down. The army has done enough to put it down; but an accursed party policy has put it up more than skill and bravery put it down: ard so it will be until a reformation in policy takes place. We shall not trust the patriotism or sincerity of the man who has the power to make the change and will not do it, for fear of some bugbear.

But neither this self-existing commitnor Mr. Wickliffe have stated the strongcst case sgainst the Government. To take a man's negro is not so severe, nor so great a depredation on his constitutional rights, as to take his life. Yet the Government tharches great armies against the rebels to take their lives. Why not charge that the policy of the lives. Why not charge that the policy of the war is change?; that its control is now in the hands of the bloody haters of the South, who, instead of carrying on the war to restore the lines. Union, are waging it to destroy the constitutional right of the Southern people to life.

The Cincinnati Gazette makes this comment upon the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Governor in Kentucky, and we willingly accept the issue. Taking a man's negro stay at home and fight for offices and conis not so severe as taking a man's life; but if the man is in arms, his life is already forfeited, though the property of his heirs is not. We wish every armed rebel to meet the doom he so richly merits; but to take his negro or any other property belonging to his wife or children is not a war upon kim, but upon women and children, who certainly have not been in armed rebellion, and, therefore, ought not to be purished. It is bad enough to have a rebel husband, but to take property from loyal men or loyal women and children, simply because there are rebels in the section of country in which they reside, is certainly in viola tion of all customs in any civilized war that hes taken place for hundreds of years. The Constitution has held its protecting ægis over the property of the relations of traitors, while it condemned them to the death penaltics for their acts-a penalty which ought to be enforced as far as consistent with the lives of our gallant soldiers who may be taken prison-

Now is the hour for heroes to spring up Has not every "loyal leaguer" been sowing dragons' teeth to spring from the earth armed men? Is not every loyal leaguer, every vigorous prosecutionist of the war, sworn upon the sacred oracles of God and under the starred flag of the nation, to sustain the Union under all hazards, even at the sacrifice of lite and liberty? Has all of the seed fallen upon barren ground? Come forth. We appeal to you first by that you have so lately claimed as ten dollars a gallon. RIFLE CLUBS - A movement is on foot to organize rifle corps throughout the loyal States, upon a plan similar to that in vogue in England and Switzerland, with a view of creating a force that shall be available for any emergency. The men are to be supplied with the Springfield or Enfield rifle, which are the recognized arm of the infantry portion of the United States service. It is proposed to organize this force into independent companies, to be armed and equipped by the several States to which they belong, and to be under the immediate control of the said set, or procure the services of some efficient person in States. In order to secure proper persons for this force, application will be made to the different State Logislatures to offer prizes every year, to be competed for by the companies as o'ten as once a year. Congress will also be asked to offer priz's to be competed for every three years. Of course the details of the organization will be developed by time, but the fact that such a force will be raised and put under State control is worthy of spec ial notice, in view of the importance of an efficient State militia, as shown by recent occurrences.

One great trouble in this war has been the ignorance of both officers and men in regard to gunnery, as applied to small arms. There have been numerous instances of failure from not knowing the power of our guns. The Springfield rifle should be effective at half a nile, even with the sights now upon the guns, and with such sights as ought to be there they would carry with effect, and with sufficient aceuracy, from one to two miles. Most men who have been accustomed to shoot squirrels at one or two hundred yards, are totally ignorant of the fact that the same principles apply to small projectiles as to large ones, and that a minie ball of an ounce and a half will do execution nearly as far as a six-pound round shot, and with equal if not greater accuracy. In the use of cannon it is not often that an attempt is made to hit any particular person, but to get a range with sufficient accuracy to throw the balls among a body of men or things which it may be desirable to demolisb. To do this, the books give exact rules for the elevation of the piece, which, of course, must be according to the distance. The same Co. again, lest they face about and denounce right kind of sights and a knowledge of the principles of gunnery on the part of officers, many a body of men could be brought into effective action at a distance now generally deemed beyond the reach of the guns.

At a long horizontal shot, say one mile, the gun has to be elevated at such an angle as to carry the ball up to a very great hight, taking a parabolic curve, and reaching its destination at a very considerable angle-and the greater the distance the greater the angle. Thus a shower of bullets may be sent into a body of men behind a breast work, or concealed from the view of the gunners behind a hill or other obstruction, in certain cases, and it is desirable that the principles of gunnery be understood by all officers of infantry, as well as ar- is sharply criticised by Republican prints. tillery, service.

Riffe clubs ought to be established at once all over the country, and if soldiers in service were to practice target-shooting far more than have fewer accounts than we now do of large numbers being engaged for sometime in action without hurting any body.

We have comething to complain of telligence hawked about the streets in the latest dates. of the army in the Cincinnati papers is as dangerous as to publish them in a Louisville paper. The news would get to the rebels just as soon. This thing has already happened too often, and we especially call the attention of

Gen. Boyle and Gen. Burnside to it. Either make the publication of such intelligence as comes to this point free, or punish the Cincinnati editors when they publish what has been declared contraband in this city.

Will the Pres- and volunteers of the State." ident plunge into the dark recesses of their midnight cabals and drag forth some of these violent protesters of loyalty? Will his provo t marshals sweep out of the garbage of political filth some of this noisy vermin who talked so much loyalty, and have done so little? Is there any street-cleaner that can sweep up to the scratch of volunteering these blatant bullies for a vigorous prosecution of the war, and who vigorously tracts? But no! they will never be found. The darkest gloom that ever shidowed the blackest corner of fabled Acheron will be as the blaze of noon-day when compared to the dark secresy into which these loyal league conventicles will be converted to hide these patriots from volunteering or the draft.

Now that Vallandigham has escaped from Dixie and will probably return home to Ohio, the Government is in a quandary. It will not do to send him back, and it is hardly safe to undertake to imprison him in Fort Lafayette. We expect the Government will be compelled to do by force what it would not do of its own accord, and let him alone. There is very little doubt now that he will be elected Governor of Ohio, and if Lincoln doesn't want to see him President, he had better let him alone.

An investigating committee discloses the fact that three Federal officers receive for their services over $80,000 each per annum: Collector Barney $86,600, Surveyor Andrew $81,430, and Naval Officer Dennison $$1,930. Men can afford to be loyal at that price. These officials are, doubtless, in favor of other people prosecuting the war vigorously, whilst they prosecute the spoils with equal vigor.

GENERAL BUELL'S DEFENSE.

The Battle of Perryville-Expulsion of General Bragg from Kentucky-The

net House, Cincinnati, May 5, 1863. We extract the following: BATTLE OF PERRYVILLE.

The battle of Perryville, although but a par-The battle of Perryville, authough out a partial, and by no means as fruitful a contest as I had expected, was not without important and gratifying results. I shall notice very briefly the causes which prevented it from being

When, on the 5 h of October, Bragg's army When, on the 5 h of October, Bragg's army proper retired from Bardstown, it was uncertain where it would neite with the force of Kirby Smith, though Darville was the point where I most expected to flud them, and my corps were accordingly directed on Perryville and Harrodsburg. When, on the night of the 6 h, I ascertained that Kirby Smith had crossed the Kentucky river at Salvisa, Harrodsburg or Perryville became the most probable point of concentration, and the destination of the corps which was marching on Harrodsburg had to be changed to Perryville. Information during the 7th, that the enemy were turning toward Hyrrodsburg, inclined me to suppose, though not confidently, that Harrodsburg, and not Perryville, would be the point. In the movement on that place, the center corps, with which I was, marched by a shorter and better road, and therefore arrived within about three miles of Perryville on the evening of the 7.h, while the other corps were expected to be still about seven miles in rear, on their re-spective roads to the right and left.

WHY BRAGG WAS NOT PUSHED AFTER THE BAT-

TLE OF PERRYVILLE. It has been asked why, after the battle of Perryville, I did not immediately follow the enemy to Harrodsburg, without waiting for Sill's division to come up. That the entire rebel army could have been brought to battle there I have no doubt. The forces were nearly equal on both sides—on one side nearly all cqual on both sides—on one side nearly an equal on both sides—on one side nearly an ity and in better order than the enemy count ity and in better order tha of the whole raw and undisciplined. The enemy would have had the advantage of the strong position which he selected. The result of a conflict under such circumstances is not o be predicted. I am not willing to admit hat I might have failed; and yet no man can ascert that the result ought certainly to have been otherwise under the circumstances. It was sufficient for me that I could make it rea-sonably certain by waiting for my troops to My studies have taught me that battles are only to be fought for some important object; that success must be rendered reasonably certair, if possible—the more certain the better; that if the result is reasonably uncertain, battle is only to be sought when very serious dis advantage must result from a failure to fight, or when the advantages of possible victory far outweigh the consequences of probable defeat. These rules suppose that war has a higher obct than that of mere bloodshed; and military istory points for study and commendation to campaigns which have been conducted over a large field of operations with important re-suits, and without a single general engagement. In my judgment the commander merits con-demunion, who, from ambition or ignorance, demonsion, who, from amount of igoration of popu-or a weak submission to the dictation of popular clamor, and without necessity or profit, has squandered the lives of his soldiers. In this connection it is proper to review the circum-stances which should have weight upon the question of hastening a battle at the particular iunction referred to.

HOW BRAGG GOT AWAY. General Buell was convinced that the object of the enemy was to hold a position in Kentucky permanently. He did not, there-treat. He says: The battle of Perryville, by every reasorable explanation, increased instead of weaken ing the probability of a great battle at Harrodsburg. It has been asserted that General Bragg fought the battle of Perryville with Bragg fought the battle of Perryville with portions of three divisions, only about fifteen thousand men. It is certain that he fought it with only a part of his whole force. He motive, therefore, may be supposed to have been either to check my advance to give time to take up a position with his main force be yend, or else because he hoped to gain some advantage by striking the head of my column, supposing I was moving on only one road, before I dould get a superior ferce up to oppose him.

In either case, he could not have expected to accomplish much more than he did in this par-tial engagement. He was repulsed, it is true, but not until night protected him from very serious consequences, and there was nothin Alleged Proposition of Gen. Buell to in the result that should have decided the fate of so important a campaign. His loss was probably much less than mine, from the fact that the attack was made when my troops were in column, and to that extent unpi pared.

That General Bragg moved to Camp Dick Robinson, instead of waiting an attack by my whole force at Harrodsburg, is no evi-dence that he would not have been willing to give pattle to the part of it which I had at Perryville. With an equal force he could safely risk a buttle in the strong position he could have taken, and, in fact, did select, when the result would by no means be as certain there, against a superior force, as it would be in the still stronger position of Camp Dick he 7th, that the enemy were turning toward and they justify every reasonable precaution the movements of the army under my com-mand, subsequently to the battle of Perry-

General Buell proceeds to detail the disposi tions made of his troops after the Perryville ncounter. He says:

On the 12th, the whole army swung around on the 12th, the whole army swing around on Danville as a pivot—the right and center on the Danville and Harrodsburg road, and the left near Harrodsburg on the Perryville and Harrodsburg road, while a reconnoissance was pushed forward to gain the desired information. It ascrtained that the enemy had record Diakle river.

The enemy's position in rear of Dick's river being, from the character of that stream, im-pregnable in front, I moved on the 13th to turn t by the south. On the night of that day I heard that the enemy was retreating from camp Dick Robinson toward the south, and I immediately ordered pursuit. The leading division marched at 12 o'clock that night, and the others followed in rapid succession. Not a musket shot had been heard, but he sound of attillery indicate any the only water within a distance of severa miles, over which the Army of the Ohio must march to attack. That position afforded also the advantage of several lines of retreat. With these combined advantages, when it was discovered that a part of the rebel army was making a stand, it was as reasonable to expect to find its combined force there as at any other point, and dispositions had to be made accordingly. I believe that a sound and unprejudiced riticism will show that the movement of the A my of the Ohio was executed promptly and judiciously; that it arrived more simultaneous-iy and in better order than the enemy could the afternoon of the 8th, the main portion of the enemy's force at Perryville would have

Some months ago a statement appeared in the newspapers, on the reported authority of Governor Andrew Johnson, that I had only been prevented by his resolute expostula-tions from abandoning Nashville when I moved north with my army in September last. He has since made the same assertion in a deposition. Whenever I have spoken on this subject I have denounced the statement as false, and 1 now repeat that denunciation I am very willing to bear the responsibility o my own acts or intentions; and it gives me sincere pleasure at all times to acknowledge any assistance I may receive from others, either in counsel or action. If I had determined to abandon Nashville it would have been upon my best judgment, and I should cheerfully have submitted to a verdict on the wisdom of my course. I assert that I never intimated to Governor Johnson an intention or wish to leave Nashuille without a garrison; that there was no discussion between us pro and con on the subject; and that the determination to hold the place was my own, uninfluenced by him in any manuer. I had not that confidence in his judgment, or that distrust of my own, which wou'd have induced me to seek his counsel. On account of his official position, I called on him, first, to inform him what I I colled on him, first, to inform him what I meant to do, and last, to tell him what garrison I had concluded to leave. On both occasious, as far as my plans were concerned, I was the speaker and he the listener. My officers were far more likely to know my views than he; and they have stated that I said always that the political importance of the occupation far cutweighed any purely military bearing of the question, and that I should hold the city.

From information received here I learn that the rebels are now within thirty miles of Harrisburg. There is not much alarm among the residents, as the city cannot be taken, although great damage can be done in the valley. There are no rebels on the Upper Potomac this side of Harper's Ferry, and everything in that vicinity is reported going on satisfactorily.

LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT.—We have heard it said that the Democrat is disloyal, but for our lives "we can't see it." On the contrary, it is as true as steel to the Government of our fathers, but particularly severe upon the imbedility and mismanagement of those who are charged with its conduct. There is a vima character between the present that renders it exceeds about the Democrat that renders it exceedingly interesting, while its leading editorials are protound and statesmanlike.

GROVER & BAKER'S

Family Sewing Machine.

WHY IT IS BEST. 1. It is more simple, durable, and less liable to de-angement than others.
2. It sews from ordinary spools, and no rewinding of bread is necessary.

2. It sews with equal facility all fabrics, the most deliate, and the heaviest, with all kinds of thread, silk, otton, or linen.
4. I seam is a strong and elastic that it never breaks, wen on the bias
5. It fastens both ends of the seam by its own operas plumpness and beauty without no garments, ar 8 Its seams can be removed in altering garments, ar RR PROPER INSTRUCTION, without picking or cutting hem.

9. Watching and varying the tension upon the threads scessary in other machines, is unnecessary in this, the tension being once adjusted on the Grover & Faker Jachine, any amount of sewing may be done without The tension being once adjusted on the drover & Pascr Machine, any amount of sewing may be done without change.

10. It makes beautiful embroidery without any change of arrangement, by simply inserting threads of suitable dizes and colors for this p_rpose. It is the only machine that both embroiders and sews perfectly.

The Grover & Baker Machine has taken the First Prenium at the State Fairs last held in New Yors, New Jergy, Ohio, Indiana, Illisois, Michigan, Iowa. CLARKSVILLE, TENNESSEE, THURSDAY EVENING, June 25, 1863. Messrs. Editors: The weather is cool and cloudy, with almost cons ant showers of rain. For the last two days the rain has been falling, and with no more prospects of clearing off now than forty-eight hours ago. Cumberland river is rapidly swelling, rising and Blythe's men—nine hundred strong—with three pieces of artillery. The remainder of his force—nine hundred—fled south via rain will prove a perfect go send, for the river was getting too low for navigation by even the lighter draught boats. An arrival of a citizen within our lines to-day direct from Atlanta, Ga., furnishes your correspondent with a few items of Southern news.

The great point of interest now in the Confederacy is Vicksburg. They regard the place of more importance to their cause than any point in the South. Every exertion will be made to raise the siege and defeat the army of Grant Johnston's operations are kent or Grant. Johnston's operations are kept en tirely secret, none of his movements being allowed to be telegraphed to the press. The Lebanon No. 2 was sunk day before yester day, at the foot of Big Hurricane Island, by running foul of a snag. The following particulars in reference to the Lebanon we clip from vesterday's Cincinnati Commercial:

Cincinnati Commercial:

The boat will prove a total loss, while a portion of the cargo will be saved. The Lebanon was bound from Cincinnati for Memphis, with two hundred tuns of fixed Government ammunition, and a large lot of sutler stores. The Lebanon was built here, and came out in October, 1861. She had capacity for five hundred and fifty tuns, and cost $24,000. Her owners, on several occasions, refused $35,000 for the Lebanon. She was insured for $18,000. divided as follows: Magnolia, $4,000; Commercial, $4,000; City, $4,000; American, $4,000, and Central, $2,000. The government freight was not insured; the balance was insured for $2,000 in the City, and $4,800 in the American Insurance, of this city. Mr. Palmer, the agent for the Underwriters, and President Moses, of the American office, left for the wreck last night.

or the wreck last night. The Pittsburg Dispatch of Wedesnday says:

The river is receding slowly at this point, with twonty-nine inches by the metal mark. The weather yesterday was cool, cloudy, and pleasant. Business remains without change at the Monongahela wharf. At the Allegheny wharf business is also very dull, with only a few small shipments of provisions for Oil City, Capt. Noss, is taking out a liscense to carry passengers, and if there is no rise soon in the Allegheny river she will take a trip to Cincinnati, and go into some of the shoal packet trades, when the heavier boats have to draw off.
Capt. M. A. Cox brought his new steamer Colossus down from Brownsville on Monday evening.
She is nearly completed, having the greater part of her cabin furniture and outfit on board. She will receive her carpets here, and will comply with the custom-house regulations. She measures 157 feet length on deck; 32½ feet beam: 4½ feet depth of hold, and draws, with 400 bushels of coal on board and water in the boliers, sixteen inches, which is very light, consider, ng her substantial build.

Our old friend Bart Leiper, formerly Lientenant-Colnnel of the First Kentucky, is in command. He gives little news from below, other than that Vicksburg must fall. He is some military and some stamboatman, and can hold his tongue (not his oats) He says too much is told from below that is not true. We have 7½ feet scant reported to St. Louis and falling. Here the river is falling rapidly, say 12 inches in 24 hours.

Business yesterday was dull. Weather delightful, changing at night to a settled rain, which still continues.
